Community Health of South Florida, Inc.

CHI is a not-for-profit corporation partially sponsored/funded by the Florida Dept. of Children and Families, District 11, the Florida Dept. of Health, HRAA, Bureau of Primary Health Care, Public Health Trust of Miami-Dade county, The Children’s Trust and the Health Foundation of South Florida.
A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT AND CEO

Health is essential for all that we do. Without good health so many other aspects of our lives fall apart.

I think the philosopher Herophilus said it best, “When Health is absent, wisdom cannot reveal itself, art cannot manifest, strength cannot fight, wealth becomes useless and intelligence cannot be applied.”

The work that Community Health of South Florida Inc. does is not just about saving lives; it’s about making people whole. As we grow, it remains at the heart of all that we do. With more than 68,000 unduplicated patients served in 2013, CHI is a major resource in Miami-Dade and Monroe Counties.

Indeed our service area grew tremendously in 2013. We opened up new health centers in Coconut Grove and South Miami and won an award to open a new health center in Tavernier. Not to mention, we purchased property in West Kendall and are poised to open that health center by June 2014. That would bring us to a total of 11 health centers and 42 school based centers with a comprehensive array of services.

We also received a grant that will allow us to become the first Community Health Center to be a designated Teaching Health Center. This will help us provide 20 people to do outreach and enrollment from Key West to Coconut Grove. Because of an $800,000 grant awarded to us, CHI was able to train nearly 600 outreach and expansion staff that helped us reach 18,000 new patients in 2013.

With the Affordable Care Act in place, we expect the number of patients that we serve to double. CHI has been instrumental in getting people enrolled. Because of an $800,000 grant awarded to us, CHI was able to train nearly 20 people to do outreach and enrollment from Key West to Coconut Grove.

We also received a grant that will allow us to become the first Community Health Center to be a designated Teaching Health Center in Florida. The residency training program will provide 15 medical residents for the highly competitive program. Despite the cost of growth, we still have a healthy bottom line. Our overall revenue increased from more than $49 million in 2012 to nearly $56 million in 2013.

We are proud of our expansion efforts, but we know there are still tremendous unmet health needs in the communities we serve. It is incumbent upon us to seek resources and plan to fill the needs in our service areas. Now is the time to do so.

SAI FIED CUSTOMERS

“I left another medical facility in utter frustration. They just couldn’t help me. It didn’t seem like they wanted to. I was spiraling downward, not just physically, but mentally too. My depression worsened. CHI took a detailed evaluation of my entire life situation, not just my health. They helped me in so many ways others then just physically. Patient Care Comes First is not just a motto, at CHI they apply it! Now my life is on track both physically and mentally. I owe my life to CHI. CHI gave me the fight to keep going. They reinvigorated my will to live.”

– Samuel Smith

“Even my daughter’s teachers are excited at what CHI Behavioral Health has done for my daughter. She is being treated for hyperactivity and problems with focus. Her grades have improved from D’s and F’s to mostly B’s. I can’t express enough how CHI has changed my daughter’s life.”

– Sheena Minnia

“I even just got an A on my test the other day. I have fun with my therapists. I even get to draw pictures and play games.”

– Takeria Gallon

“CHI is the best. Couldn’t get any better. Our family’s health is the most important thing to us, and it’s the most important thing to my CHI doctors too. We’ve been patients for many years and wouldn’t go anywhere else. Why should we? The doctors score five stars!”

What does basketball have to do with health care? Aside from the cardio-vascular exercise that it provides to keep a person healthy there is a lot more behind the M.J. Hoops basketball league that Community Health of South Florida Inc. (CHI) supports. It’s about saving lives. The goal is to keep young people out of trouble, gangs, drugs and risky sexual behavior.

Sometimes getting a teen involved in something productive such as a basketball tournament can make a major difference in their life.

“We have come to the realization that we can change the new generation,” said Romanita Ford, Director of Community Affairs and Government Relations for CHI.

“We can impact the new generation so we want to do something to help steer them in the right direction and see the end result, a positive outcome.”

It is one facet of the Community Health of South Florida Community Initiative (CCI), a program that the non-profit health company participates in to help under-privileged residents in local public housing complexes.

“We did a needs assessment and it told us that we have to help with changing the behaviors,” said Ford. “They need so much more than healthcare and so that’s what we are going to give them.”

It partnered us with the Office of the State Attorney to help erase the criminal histories of some of the residents who were struggling to turn their lives around,” said Ford. “If you can’t work because of a minor criminal infraction, that can destroy your life.”

The expungement program was so popular the line was out the door and officials stood by at the Doris Ison Health Center until well into the night to process everyone who came out.

From criminal histories to Christmas, the help is far-reaching. Each year CCI is also involved in a big holiday celebration and toy drive for the children at Cutler Manor.

“They’ve learned to trust the teams,” said Turner. “They’re seeing their faces more and knowing that they’re not coming out to get them and they’re offering them things that are going to benefit them.”

Turner remembered a recent health fair where CHI provided screening that just might have saved two women’s lives.

“One lady in particular, her blood sugar was so high and she would not have normally have known if they had not come out to that health fair,” said Turner. “One of those women couldn’t leave until emergency medics arrived. Both of those ladies are doing better today.”

Saving and enriching lives certainly takes a community and that’s the approach that CCI stands behind. From baby showers for teenage mothers, tickets to cultural events, even a simple game of hoops; it’s changing the conversation about life goals, health and taking care of each other.

CCI was born in 2011 with the goal of empowering a diverse group of people to create a positive change in the community. It was first implemented in the Cutler Manor Apartments on 10875 SW 216 St. in Miami. The plan is to expand it to include other South Dade housing complexes such as New Horizon, Campbell Arms, Cutler Glen and Cutler Meadows.

The community services for CCI ranged from bringing in valuable discussions about bullying, HIV and sex education, assistance with onsite GED classes and even implemented an expungement program called “Justice in Motion.”

“I left another medical facility in utter frustration. They just couldn’t help me. It didn’t seem like they wanted to. I was spiraling downward, not just physically, but mentally too. My depression worsened. CHI took a detailed evaluation of my entire life situation, not just my health. They helped me in so many ways other than just physically. Patient Care Comes First is not just a motto, at CHI they apply it! Now my life is on track both physically and mentally. I owe my life to CHI. CHI gave me the fight to keep going. They reinvigorated my will to live.”
– Samuel Smith

“Even my daughter’s teachers are excited at what CHI Behavioral Health has done for my daughter. She is being treated for hyperactivity and problems with focus. Her grades have improved from D’s and F’s to mostly B’s. I can’t express enough how CHI has changed my daughter’s life.”

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT AND CEO

Health is essential for all that we do. Without good health so many other aspects of our lives fall apart.

I think the philosopher Herophilus said it best, “When Health is absent, wisdom cannot reveal itself, art cannot manifest, strength cannot fight, wealth becomes useless and intelligence cannot be applied.”

The work that Community Health of South Florida Inc. does is not just about saving lives; it’s about making people whole. As we grow, it remains at the heart of all that we do. With more than 68,000 unduplicated patients served in 2013, CHI is a major resource in Miami-Dade and Monroe Counties.

Indeed our service area grew tremendously in 2013. We opened up new health centers in Coconut Grove and South Miami and won an award to open a new health center in Tavernier. Not to mention, we purchased property in West Kendall and are poised to open that health center by June 2014. That would bring us to a total of 11 health centers and 42 school based centers with a comprehensive array of services. Despite the cost of growth, we still have a healthy bottom line. Our overall revenue increased from more than $49 million in 2012 to nearly $56 million in 2013.

We are proud of our expansion efforts, but we know there are still tremendous unmet health needs in the communities we serve. It is incumbent upon us to seek resources and plan to fill the needs in our service areas. Now is the time to do so.

With the Affordable Care Act in place, we expect the number of patients that we serve to double. CHI has been instrumental in getting people enrolled. Because of an $800,000 grant awarded to us, CHI was able to train nearly 20 people to do outreach and enrollment from Key West to Coconut Grove.

We also received a grant that will allow us to become the first Community Health Center to be a designated Teaching Health Center. This will allow us to provide 15 medical residents for the highly competitive program. It’s no wonder others are starting to take notice. With a level three patient centered medical home accreditation, the Center in Florida. The residency training program will provide 15 medical residents for the highly competitive program.

Thank you for your continued support.
